CHINESE NEW YEAR • FEBRUARY 6, 2027

Welcoming the New Year

Chinese Traditions & Tai Chi

with Master Joseph Cheung

An engaging celebration of culture, storytelling, and gentle movement.

MEET YOUR PRESENTER

Master Joseph Cheung holds a master's degree in East Asian Studies from St. John's University. A longtime college instructor and director of the Physical Arts Program at the New York College of Health Professions.

- Discover festive customs, family traditions, and the Chinese zodiac.
- Explore the history and cultural significance of Tai Chi and Qigong.
- Create a Community Wishing Tree inspired by Hong Kong's Lam Tsuen tradition.

Welcome a new year of discovery.

60-minute workshop • Available January & February 2027

Fu, good fortune wish tags included!

Tree and accessories not included.

A Wish for the New Year

THE COMMUNITY WISHING TREE

Chinese New Year 2027
Year of the Goat

In Hong Kong's Lam Tsuen villages, people have long written wishes on paper and tossed them into wishing trees, especially at Chinese New Year. It was believed that the higher a wish landed, the more likely it was to come true.

Inspired by this local tradition, our Community Wishing Tree brings together hopes for the year ahead.

Add your wish to our tree

Write your wish

A few words are enough:
peace, good health,
friendship, or joy.

Hang your wish

Place your tag on a branch.
Ask a team member
if you would like help.